Do You Need to Communicate with Others?

Afraid of Talking to Strangers?

Nervous Presenting your Data?

Anxious about your next meeting with the Boss?

Is English your second language?

Toastmasters can help!

Boston University Medical Campus is starting a new Chapter of Toastmasters International!
www.toastmasters.org

Toastmasters is a do-it-yourself program where each member practices short speeches in a friendly environment focused on skills to build confidence, comfort and ease in preparing and delivering any form of professional communication including formal talks, thinking on your feet and talking with colleagues.

Communication is a learned skill!

We are looking for a list of interested students and employees of BUMC and BMC to begin a toastmasters club on the medical campus. For more information, contact yolanta@bu.edu

Membership: $20 for life
Yearly Fee: $54
