2015/2016 Clinical Research Seminar Calendar

(Seminars typically take place on the 2nd Wednesday of each month. Come early to sign in and get lunch.)

Topics and dates subject to change. Please visit the CRRO website for updates.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Time</th>
<th>Topic</th>
<th>Presenter(s)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| Wed. 9/30/2015 | R-115 | 12:1 PM
SOPs                                                    | Mary-Tara Roth, RN, MSN, MPH
Director, Clinical Research Resources Office              | Boston University and Boston Medical Center                                                        |
| Wed. 10/14/2015 | L-110 | 12:1 PM                                                                                 | The New INSPIR Application                                                                         | John Ennever, MD, PhD
Director                                                          | Boston University Medical Campus/Boston Medical Center IRB                                      |
| Wed. 11/4/2015 | L-110 | 12:1 PM                                                                                 | The BMC Clinical Data Warehouse.... Lots of Answers.... What's the Question?                        | Linda Rosen, MSEE
Clinical Data Warehouse Research Manager                       | Boston Medical Center Clinical Data Warehouse                                                    |
| 12/9/2015     | L-110  | 12:1 PM                                                                                 | The 111 Criteria                                                                                   | John Ennever, MD, PhD
Director                                                          | Boston University Medical Campus/Boston Medical Center IRB                                      |
| Wed. 1/27/2016 | R-115 | 12:1 PM                                                                                 | Recent Changes in Oversight of Human Research at BUMC/BMC:                                        | Thomas Moore, MD
What Do They Mean for You?                                        | John Ennever, MD, PhD
Mary-Tara Roth, RN, MSN, MPH                                      |
| Wed. 2/10/2016 | L-112 | 12:1 PM                                                                                 | Regulations, Ethics, and Scenarios: Children in Research                                             | Carolyn Dunbar-Masterson, RN, BSN, Clinical Research Nurse and Matthew Stafford, Director of Clinical Research Compliance |
|               |       |                                                                                        | Boston Children’s Hospital                                                                       |
| Wed. 3/9/2016  | L-110 | 12:1 PM                                                                                 | Ethics in Research Study Design                                                                     | Janice Weinburg, ScD
Professor of Biostatistics                                        | Boston University School of Public Health                                                          |
| Wed. 4/13/2016 | L-112 | 12:1 PM                                                                                 | Material Transfer Agreements                                                                        | Patricia Bass, JD
Associate General Counsel                                          | Boston Medical Center                                                                               |
| Th. 5/19/2016  | L-110 | 12:1 PM                                                                                 | Moving from Readability to Comprehension                                                            | Michael Paasche-Orlow, MD, MPH
Associate Professor of Medicine                                    | Department of Medicine, Section of General Internal Medicine                                        |
|               |       |                                                                                        | Boston University School of Medicine                                                               |
| Wed. 6/8/2016  | L-112 | 12:1 PM                                                                                 | Equivalent Protections: Altered Requirements for Minimal Risk Research                              | Fanny Ennever, PhD, CIP
Manager, Regulatory Policy Development                             | Office of Human Research Affairs                                                                   |
|               |       |                                                                                        | Boston Medical Center and Boston University Medical Campus                                        |

The Clinical Research Resources Office (CRRO) is supported by the BUMC Clinical & Translational Science Institute (CTSI), Department of Medicine and Office of Clinical Research. For more information see www.bumc.bu.edu/crro.