

BOSTON UNIVERSITY

Forensic Anthropology Open House September 30, 2016

The Forensic Anthropology program announces an Open House starting at 9:00 am on Sept 30, 2016. Students will have the opportunity to speak with faculty and current students. A tour of classrooms and laboratories at the School of Medicine will be given during the morning.

Students will then be transported by bus to the Forensic Anthropology Research Facility in Holliston, MA where they can tour the research facility and observe some of our on going research projects and continue discussions with our faculty and current students.

Adjunct faculty and associates from local, state and federal law enforcement will be present to speak with you not only about our program, but future career opportunities.

A catered lunch will be served once we arrive in Holliston. You will be transported back to the School of Medicine by bus at the end of the day.

To RSVP, please contact
Agent Gary Reinecke @
reinecke@bu.edu or 617-638-5963

If you are interested and can attend we ask that you RSVP by September 15th, 2016.