RESEARCH STUDY RECRUITMENT – PROMOTION TOOLKIT

If you are interested in promoting a study to recruit participants, please review the following document that outlines the process and options available. In order to ensure brand compliance, you must work with the BMC Communications and Marketing Department or the BUSM Communications Office on the development of materials or on the review of sponsor-supplied materials.

GENERAL PROCESS*
Timeline and budget will vary depending on promotional materials needed, but the process is standard and as follows:

1. Ensure that funds are available for your chosen promotional material(s).
2. Work with a Clinical Trials Office Financial Analyst during budget development and negotiation, when applicable.
3. After receiving IRB approval for the study, submit the following form to BMC and BUSM Communications/Marketing: www.bmc.org/researchpromotion.
4. Depending on the home institution of the principal investigator, BMC Communications/Marketing or BUSM Communications will review the information submitted and respond with follow up questions within 2-5 business days.
5. After further detail is outlined, BMC or BUSM Communications/Marketing will develop promotional material(s) and send back to study coordinator for approval. The turnaround time for receiving branded materials will average 1-4 weeks.
   • This could potentially be longer if multiple materials are requested in one form submission or if information provided is missing/inaccurate. Timelines will be clearly communicated
   • For externally sponsored trials, sponsor may require approval before IRB review
6. Study coordinator approves and then submits the material(s) as an amendment to the IRB for approval.
7. Once IRB approval is obtained, send approval letter to the BMC or BUSM Communications/Marketing team.
8. BMC or BUSM Communications/Marketing can then move forward with launching, printing, etc promotional material(s).

*If you have received sponsor-supplied materials, fill out the same form listed in step 3 and upload those materials for review.
