Volunteer Spotlight

Pat Oliver is the person behind that delightful voice you may have heard calling to remind you of an upcoming support group or activity. She was born at Boston City Hospital and has lived and worked her whole life in the South End, including a few years in the 1960s employed at the BU/BCH Child Guidance Center. Diagnosed with endometrial cancer in 2003, Pat decided that BMC’s cancer survivorship program—which she describes as a “little oasis” for those on this very tough journey—was the appropriate place to volunteer now that she has the time.

This year Pat knitted over 100 dolls for children who survived the earthquake in Haiti. In June, Patty Doggett, leader of our knitting group, sent off the first 60+ of Pat’s dolls, along with some dolls knitted by others, with the organization Save the Children. BMC’s Dr. Nicole Prudent took the next 40 with her to Haiti in August. (Pat named her favorite doll, the long-haired one in the center, “Ramón.”)

Patient Spotlight

Burnette Baker lives two blocks from Boston Medical Center, so it’s an easy trip to the Breast Cancer and Women w/Cancer support groups and the knitting and arts & crafts classes she regularly attends. She says “BMC takes very good care of its cancer patients.” Proud to have earned her GED this past June, Burnette will be taking advantage of the scholarship offered to BMC cancer survivors to attend BU’s Metropolitan College (see inside for info). Burnette’s community-mindedness has her on the boards of several local organizations, and she assists youth in her apartment complex every weekday afternoon in the “Afterschool Homework Club.” During the summer she’s busy as the area’s “professional yardsaler.”

Inspiring words by Rev. Howard Thurman, the first African American to hold a tenured position as dean of Marsh Chapel at Boston University:

This is the way the rhythm moves. The fall of the year comes, then winter with its trees stripped of leaf and bud; cold winds ruthless in bitterness and sting. One day there is sleet and ice; in the silence of the nighttime the snow falls soundlessly – all this until at last the cold seems endless and all there is seems to be shadowy and foreboding. The earth is weary and heavy. Then something stirs – a strange new vitality pulses through everything. One can feel the pressure of some vast energy pushing, always pushing through dead branches, slumbering roots – life surges everywhere within and without. Spring has come. The day usurps the night view. Is there any wonder...that winter is ever moving toward the spring? ...Is there any wonder that...upon the night view of the world a day view must follow.

HEALING GARDEN

This fall you will see our new "Healing Garden" establishing its roots next to the elevators on Moakley’s 3rd floor.

The empty space at the end of the hallway is being transformed into a tranquil sitting area by the members of the BMC Ovarian Cancer Mind-Body Support Group.

This project has been a labor of love for the support group—one that holds very special meaning to them. It is dedicated to the memory of one of the group's much-beloved founding members, Tina Duca. Funding for this project was raised by Tina's friends and family as well as her support group sisters.

Over the past two years, the women have worked together and made a handmade quilt for wall-hanging, selected garden furniture, and picked out plants. One member even drove all the way to Vermont to buy the furniture on sale!!

Their hope is that in the midst of the busy outpatient clinic, the Healing Garden will provide a peaceful, quiet oasis for patients and visitors to sit and rest and meditate.

Please stop by and ‘sit a spell’…
