

Boston University Medical Group

Excellence in Care Award

Given to an early or mid-career clinician who demonstrates clinical excellence and is an exceptional role model for the values in his/her clinical work.

James Hudspeth, MD

Assistant Professor – General Internal Medicine

Dr. Hudspeth has been at BMC for six years working as a hospitalist and an educator in General Internal Medicine. He serves as the Associate Director of the Hospital Medical Unit and as Medical Director of the Inpatient General Medicine Teaching Service. Since 2011 he has focused on continuously providing quality care to the underserved population that BMC services daily. He is recognized by his colleagues for his consistency in his commitment to providing excellent clinical care and advocating for patients and their families.