

Boston University Medical Group

Excellence in Leadership Award

Given to a clinician who demonstrates exceptional clinical leadership and has made noteworthy contributions to enhancing clinical infrastructure and/or supporting excellence in patient care.

Sarah Crane, MD

Assistant Professor – Obstetrics & Gynecology

Dr. Crane has been at BMC in the Department of Obstetrics & Gynecology for a combined twelve years. She is the Medical Director of Ambulatory Services for the department as well as an attending physician. Her current research interests and activities involve peri-partum depression and HPV vaccination completion in the adult patient. She is recognized by her colleagues and staff for her transformative leadership, inclusive and engaging communication style, and her steadfast dedication to clinical excellence. Her leadership has been credited with making her department a great place to receive care and to work.